

Does the correctly aligned Panchang representation outperform shifted or permuted categorical controls?

Dataset and model architecture

